

Supplier Code of Conduct

The value and importance
we place on honest, ethical and lawful conduct in all our business dealings

Volusion Group plc

volusion

Message from our CEO

02	Message from our CEO	05	- Commitment to Anti-Slavery
03	Introduction	05	- Commitment to our Shareholders
03	- Why Code of Conduct?	05	- Commitment to Data Protection
03	- Who is responsible for the Code of Conduct?	05	- Commitment to Preventing Corporate Criminal Offences
04	Code of Conduct Overview	07	Reporting Misconduct
04	- Key Principles	06	- What happens if the Code of Conduct is breached?
04	- Commitment from our Suppliers	08	External Considerations & Regional Variations
04	- Commitment to our External Environment	09	Questions and Contact Information
05	- Commitment to Anti-Bribery

January 2022

Dear Supplier

This Code of Conduct (the “Code”) sets out our commitment, within the Volition Group of companies and externally, to the value and importance that we place on honest, ethical and lawful conduct in all our business dealings.

As a highly reputable Group of companies, it is important for all of us that we have a set of values which encourages us to behave ethically, with integrity and with mutual respect. In practice, what this means for each of us is that we must always be striving to know and do the right thing at all times.

All companies in the Volition Group have a renowned history of innovative products backed up by a great service from our staff. This is why we are each proud of the company we work for. Our commitment to quality and service runs right through everything we do and on through our supply chain to our customers. Central to this is the way we treat each other, our customers and our suppliers. At our heart is a strong commitment to be and be known as adhering to good business conduct and ethics which is good for business and enhances the value of our brands in the marketplace.

Corruption in any form or improper or illegal behaviour is extremely damaging to any business. It only takes one decision, taken by a person without thinking, or one failure to ask if this is what we stand for, for these damaging effects to take hold. The protection of our good reputation is paramount, which is why we are proud to operate a “zero-tolerance” policy towards any breaches of this Code.

It is important to stress that all suppliers should act honestly, ethically and lawfully and this is taken seriously by me and the Board of Volition Group, which is why this Code has been formalised and we expect all suppliers to adhere to it at all times.

Ronnie George
Chief Executive Officer
Volition Group plc

This booklet provides an introduction to the Volution Group plc Code of Conduct (the “Code”) which you should read and understand. If the company you work for has an internal intranet site, the Code and related policies can be reviewed there. There is some training that most employees are required to complete on Anti-Bribery and Corruption and you will be contacted if you need to complete it.

Why Code of Conduct?

We must ensure that, our business complies with all applicable law, we adhere to our own standards, policies and principles, we exercise good stewardship of our assets and the environment, and behave safely and ethically at all times.

In order to meet these obligations, this Code sets out the principles and standards that guide the way we do business. It provides a summary of the complex ethical and legal guidelines to help each of us to understand better, the basic rules that apply and the personal responsibility for compliance which we each bear.

Only by consistently acting with integrity do we earn the trust of our customers, investors, shareholders, colleagues, suppliers and the communities where we live and work - those whose trust we must maintain if all companies within the Volution Group are to continue to be successful. Our standards are not simply words on a piece of paper, they are ways of ensuring we consistently know and do the right thing, always.

Who is responsible for the Code of Conduct?

The Code is the responsibility of us all, both collectively and as individuals, specifically:

- > the Volution Group Board has adopted the Code with the Chief Executive Officer (“CEO”) having overall ownership and the Company Secretary & Head of Group Procurement being responsible for ensuring the Code is cascaded, communicated and understood across all companies in the Group
- > the Company Secretary also serves as the Compliance Officer for the Code (“Compliance Officer”) and reports to the CEO
- > the CEO together with the Compliance Officer is directly responsible to the Volution Group Board on Code of Conduct matters and reports to them as appropriate
- > each Volution Group company must ensure that they support the Code, ensure their teams adhere to the Code and enforce compliance
- > investigations and resulting actions are managed through Volution Group’s Procurement team or the Compliance Officer, using standard company procedures and with appropriate confidentiality

Code of Conduct Overview

Key principles

All suppliers supplying goods and services to Volution Group will behave with integrity and honesty at all times in accordance with this Code. Failure to do so may lead to appropriate action being taken, up to and including removal as a supplier and may also result in criminal charges and legal action to recover losses or damages.

Supported by:

- > Our commitment to safety and respect for the environment
- > Employees who are empowered to act
- > High ethical standards where professional excellence is pursued and teams and individuals who contribute to our success are rewarded
- > Our commitment to good labour practices, and respect for the human rights of employees
- > An open environment, where issues can be raised in good faith, be investigated and acted upon, and where whistle blowing is encouraged within a non-retaliatory environment

Commitment from our Suppliers

Within all companies in the Volution Group, we are committed to fostering cordial working relations with our suppliers, and we expect employees of our suppliers to have a workplace that is safe and that is founded on fair employment practices and mutual respect. All companies in the Volution Group expect their suppliers to demonstrate that they have a work environment in which they:

- > value the safety, health and security of workforce
- > avoid conflicts of interest that may interfere with our obligations to our company
- > value and embrace diversity and equal opportunity
- > promote good labour practices, including, freely chosen employment; child labour avoidance; working hours; wages and benefits; humane treatment; non-discrimination; freedom of association

- > prohibit all forms of harassment and retaliation
- > ensure confidentiality of our employees' personal information
- > encourage caution, moderation and good judgement in the giving and receiving of gifts, favours and entertainment
- > absolutely prohibit the giving or receiving of bribes including facilitation payments
- > absolutely prohibit fraudulent conduct within all business activities
- > reject corrupt practices

Commitment to our external environment

In all our business dealings, we strive to be honest and fair. We will always act in line with all applicable laws, rules and regulations in the jurisdictions where we conduct business. We are also committed to being a positive contributor to the communities in which we do business. In particular, we will always:

- > compete vigorously but fairly and legally, adhering to competition and antitrust laws
- > avoid discussing competitive issues in trade associations or in any other potentially compromising environment
- > comply with all fraud and anti-bribery and corruption laws
- > avoid trading in securities using material inside information
- > respect the intellectual property and copyrights of others
- > promote our products and services accurately and honestly
- > comply with international trade controls
- > strive to ensure they operate in line with our Code
- > meet government, industry and Volution Group safety and quality standards

- > absolutely prohibit the giving or receiving of bribes including facilitation payments
- > absolutely prohibit fraudulent conduct within all business activities
- > reject corrupt practices
- > respect the principles of human rights as set down by the UN Declaration and its applicable International Labour Organisation conventions (including a mandatory requirement on Volution Group sites to avoid the employment of children)
- > act with sound environmental management

Commitment to Anti-Bribery

Volution Group has adopted an Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy to ensure compliance with all applicable anti-bribery and corruption laws.

Any company in the Volution Group will take action to deal with any material breach of this Code by its customers, associates or suppliers, which relates to their business relationships with that company in the Group. This will include terminating the business relationship if concerns cannot be appropriately addressed.

All companies in the Volution Group take a zero tolerance approach to bribery and corruption. In particular:

- > bribes will never be paid, and we will never tolerate such behaviour either by our suppliers or by those who perform services for or on behalf of any company in the Group
- > this prohibition includes so-called 'facilitation payments', which must not be made
- > no company within the Group will ever accept bribes, or tolerate such behaviour by its suppliers or those who perform services for or on behalf of any company in the Group

Commitment to Anti-Slavery

We will not allow any form of slavery or human trafficking to take place in any part of our business. We will not use child labour (in line with the Minimum Age Convention), nor will we use forced labour. We recognise freedom of association by permitting our employees to establish and join organisations of their own choosing without our permission, and we will recognise collective bargaining where required by local laws.

We will source products and services from organisations that meet, or are willing to meet, the Group's ethical standards. In particular, we will not engage with organisations which use child labour or forced labour, which discriminate on the grounds of gender, ethnic or national origin, religion, sexual orientation, marital status, age or disability, or which do not recognise freedom of association or collective bargaining. We will take steps to ensure that slavery and human trafficking do not take place in any part of our supply chains.

Commitment to our Shareholders

We are committed to promoting the interests of our shareholders and investors by working hard to achieve superior financial results. In pursuing this goal, we will protect company assets and resources, avoid conflicts of interest, and accurately measure and report our financial performance in accordance with relevant laws and regulations. All financial books, records, accounts and claims must accurately reflect transactions and events. In particular, we will:

- > create and retain honest, accurate and timely records
- > protect the ownership and confidentiality of all proprietary information and information systems within all companies in the Group
- > respect company property and funds

Commitment to Data Protection

We all must comply with applicable local privacy and data protection laws and regulations and respect the privacy of our colleagues, customers, suppliers and business partners and seek to protect their personal data. We shall obtain personal information about our colleagues, customers, suppliers and our business partners only by legitimate means, strictly manage and protect such information, and use the information for its intended purposes only. We shall ensure that proper procedures for processing, maintaining and storing personal data are followed. No personal information about employees may be disclosed by any person or third party unless - and until - proper authorisation for such disclosure has been obtained in accordance with applicable regulations.

Commitment to Preventing Corporate Criminal Offences

We are committed to complying with the legislation which introduced a new corporate criminal offence of Failing to Prevent the Facilitation of Tax Evasion.

Volution would be guilty of an offence if a person associated with the company such as an employee, agent or other person who performs services for or on behalf of Volution, facilitates tax evasion by another person. There is a defence if the company had reasonable prevention procedures in place.

Tax evasion is a serious criminal offence in many countries and is defined as cheating the public revenue or fraudulently evading tax. The offence requires an element of fraud, which means there must be a deliberate fraudulent action, or an omission to do something with dishonest intent. We make it clear to anyone working for us, or supplying goods and/or services to us that they are strictly forbidden to engage in any form of facilitation of tax evasion either directly or through another person. Any request or demand from a third party to facilitate must be reported immediately. Employees are encouraged to raise concerns about any issue or suspicion of tax evasion or foreign tax evasion at the earliest possible stage, and we have robust systems in place to monitor and follow-up on any incidences of suspected tax evasion.

Commitment to Fraud Prevention

Volution Group has a zero-tolerance approach to fraud including within our supply chain. We are committed to conducting business with honesty, integrity and transparency and to preventing fraud within all our business activities. This includes where Volution Group may either be a victim of or benefit from fraud.

We expect all our suppliers and other associates to adhere to our standards on fraud prevention and promote them within their own operations. Where we identify any material breach of these standards, we will take action including terminating business relationships if concerns cannot be appropriately addressed.

Commitment to Sustainable Operations

Volusion is committed to high standards of corporate responsibility and sustainability and continues to focus on its contribution to a more sustainable world through its operations.

A key component of that commitment is to ensure that our supply chain ambition matches our own.

Code of Conduct Overview Continued

Resource conservation

Our suppliers are expected to use our resources in an economical and sensitive manner. We expect sourcing of raw materials to be carried out in a way that minimises the impact on the environment and will work with suppliers to manage, measure and implement initiatives to help improve processes and practices. This includes, but is not limited to production processes, use of recycled materials wherever possible, minimising packaging, material reutilisation and waste reduction.

Efficient Operations

Our suppliers will work to reduce power consumption and greenhouse gas emissions through their operations. Transition to renewable energy sources in production, operating in energy efficient buildings and actions taken to help to reduce transport related emissions will all be measured and recorded and targets set.

Waste and emissions

Suppliers will have systems in place to ensure the management of waste, air emissions and wastewater discharges. Any of these activities that have the potential to adversely impact human or environmental health will be appropriately managed, measured, controlled and handled prior to release of any substance into the environment. Suppliers will have systems in place to prevent or mitigate accidental spills and releases into the environment.

Climate Friendly Products

Suppliers engage in the development and use of climate-friendly products. Minimising the impact of products through their life cycle is a key objective and this includes minimising in-use energy and embodied carbon. Designing products that are efficient to manufacture and use as well as avoiding IEC 62474 declarable hazardous materials within their production.

Volition continues to reduce plastic within our packaging and our aim is to completely eliminate single use plastic from our products packaging where ever possible.

Reporting Misconduct

What happens if the Code of Conduct is breached?

All employees in every company within the Volution Group must accept and work to the Code and related policies as part of their employment contract. Failure to abide by the Code may lead to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal, referral for criminal prosecution and legal action to recover resulting losses or damages.

Companies within the Volution Group expect that its suppliers, consultants, temporary staff, agents, distributors and customers will follow the principles laid down in this Code. Failure to operate in accordance with these principles may, depending on the seriousness of the breach, lead to termination of the contractual relationship, referral for criminal prosecution and legal action to recover resulting losses or damages.

External considerations & Regional variations

Companies within the Volution Group, its customers and suppliers are active in many countries which leads to a wide variety of rules, regulations and business practices being applicable. The Code has been created in order to establish a base standard of acceptable operating guidelines and behaviour across our businesses. Consequently, unless the Code is contrary to local laws, rules and regulations, the principles laid down in the Code will apply.

This Code is in accordance with all applicable legislation (eg the Economic Crime and Corporate Transparency Act 2023, the UK Bribery Act 2010, the Modern Slavery Act 2015 etc), and this Code also takes into account the relevant codes and standards of industry bodies and international organisations, such as:

- > International Labour Organisation standards
- > United Nations Global Compact (covering the areas of human rights, labour, the environment and anti-corruption)
- > United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights

Questions and contact information

In order to always do the right thing, we all have the responsibility to know what the right thing to do is. Common sense, good judgement and your conscience are often your best guides when faced with a difficult situation. This overview should also help in your understanding.

Further information relating to this Code can be found via:

- > Your purchasing contact at the Volution Group company that you supply
- > Volution Group Procurement Department via procurement@volution-group.com

Code of Conduct issues are usually best dealt with through your local purchasing contact. If you do not feel comfortable with this then you are encouraged to contact Volution Group's central procurement department at the above mentioned contact address.

Author
Company Secretary
Volution Group plc
August 2025

volution

Volution Group plc

Fleming Way
Crawley
West Sussex RH10 9YX
United Kingdom

www.volutiongroupplc.com